Objective: I've held a variety of jobs, each providing me with some experience in different areas, from landscaping to cooking, busing tables, and working at farmer's markets. I am versatile and learn quickly. I am also self-motivated, I would rather take initiative and get something done than stand around slacking off. I am just graduating from high school and my plan right now is to work for a year to take a break from school and gain some life experience. After working for a year I should have a better idea of what I want to go to college for instead of just going to be going. I'll be supporting myself as of August which motivates me to really work hard to find and keep a job.

Interests:

- I love living in Colorado and the sort of lifestyle it allows me to lead, from skiing in the winter to skateboarding and hiking in the summer time, to getting out on the river in inflatable kayaks or taking over night backpacking trips and summiting peaks over 13,000 feet tall. I really enjoy the outdoors and nature, I also like to cook sometimes and playing video games on those days when the weather is too extreme to enjoy the outdoors. I like to travel as well, exploring new places is lots of fun, also just driving is something I enjoy.
